I also have strong experience in stakeholder engagement and co-design, with a strong foundation in monitoring and evaluation. With ALC, I enjoy engaging with the local group through supporting events and having conversations with different activists to hear about their activism. Working with the current members of ALC to plan face-to-face activists catch-up, school conferences, and other activists/ALC-led events has strengthened my skills in working with a diverse group of people. I hope to continue my service for Amnesty through being a member of ALC for the next two years.

This includes being a member of a local community group, and a member of the QLD and Northern NSW Activisms and Leadership Committee. I particularly enjoy participating in community engagement events to support raising awareness of human rights and and human rights issues in the community, as well as working with youth activists to hold events like our annual school conference in Brisbane.

Maddie Wood

Passionate about grassroots activism, community growth, and amplifying the voices of those facing injustice, my journey with Amnesty International Australia began in 2013 as a member of the Gold Coast group. As Group Convenor, I led a team of eight+ activists for over six years, providing training, support, and strategic guidance across campaigns.

Alongside this, I contributed at a leadership level through the Branch Committee before transitioning to the Activism Leadership Committee, where I now lead activism across my region. In 2014, I joined the Indigenous Youth Justice Tactics Team, supporting the development and delivery of national and local organising strategies.

As a regional campaign leader, I have created campaign materials, delivered training, and mentored emerging activists to build capability and confidence. In 2019, I was elected Regional President for QLD/NNSW, a position I proudly continue to hold.

I remain deeply committed to driving meaningful change, ensuring the voices and needs of impacted communities, members, and volunteers are always at the centre of my work.
