

Candidate	Statement
Sarah Holloway  Member for 24 years	I have been a member of AIA for over 20 years. I am currently a member of the Activism & Membership Committee. I have previously been a member of the Tasmanian and Victorian Branch Committees, the National Board of Directors (2011 – 2015), and have been a General Meeting Voter or NAGM delegate many times. In my professional life I am a lawyer. Reason for nominating: I believe that informed and consultative decision making by members is what makes AIA unique in the civil society space, and as a GMV for the past 4–5 years, I have the background in recent developments to help me contribute to the AGM in a constructive manner. I believe in the importance of good quality decision making, and have significant professional experience in assessing risk and legal issues when making decisions.
Greg Luckman  Member for 40 years	I am a longstanding member of AIA with experience as a local group convenor, regional representative and a national board member for 10 years. I have also represented AIA at international meetings. Reason for nominating: I believe that we must take every opportunity to strengthen opportunities for members and supporters to become activists in ways that are effective and rewarding.

I am a long-term member of Amnesty International, a former secretary of the Tasmanian Branch Committee and a 2025 General Meeting Voter. I have a strong commitment to social justice and human rights.

I am a recently retired teacher with a long career in the classroom. I now have time to devote to causes I am passionate about. I took on a role of recruiting and organising volunteers during the 2023 Referendum. For many years I have been an active member of a professional association, fulfilling various roles on the local committee as well as 6 years on the national board of the association.

Reason for nominating:

I am committed to good governance and want to see Amnesty’s core values protected and upheld. I bring experience of board membership and democratic decision-making. I am able to reflect on different points of view and reach common ground. I understand Amnesty International Australia’s role as part of the global movement and will work to ensure that human rights are advanced within Amnesty’s framework.
